

Social Justice Watch 1012

图集精选

消息精选

来源：Social Justice Watch

镜像

图集精选

返回目录

Educate yourself and others about consent.

@girl_incognito24

Re-examine and re-imagine masculinity.

@girl_incognito24

Take an intersectional approach.

@girl_incognito24

Report child marriage or sexual abuse around you.

@girl_incognito24

Support survivors of sexual violence.

@girl_incognito24

Amplify the voices and narratives of survivors.

@girl_incognito24

Stop letting men get away with inappropriate behaviour.

@girl_incognito24

<https://www.facebook.com/thatgirlinsideme/posts/3018393778266882>

What's Happening in Artsakh (Nagorno-Karabakh) and How You Can Help.

 Slow Factory
Foundation

On September 27th, 2020 Azerbaijan executed military aggression against Artsakh (also known as Nagorno-Karabakh) with the support of Turkey.

This is the most severe attack on Artsakh since Armenia and Azerbaijan signed a cease-fire in 1994. According to the Associated Press, dozens of civilians have been killed and hundreds severely injured.

Half of Artsakh's population has been displaced in the last two weeks.

Source: The Guardian

Artsakh is ethnically Armenian and its people are Indigenous to the region.

Artsakh

Artsakh is the name of the Republic, mainly used by Armenians to refer to Nagorno-Karabakh.

It is the tenth province of the ancient Kingdom of Armenia and of the last to maintain its autonomy from the Turkic invasions of the 11th to the 14th centuries.

Ottoman and Turkic aggression towards Armenians continues to this day, including the justification and denial of the Armenian Genocide that took the lives of about 1.5 million people from 1914 to 1923.

Nagorno-Karabakh

Nagorno is a Russian word meaning highland, as a result of the USSR.

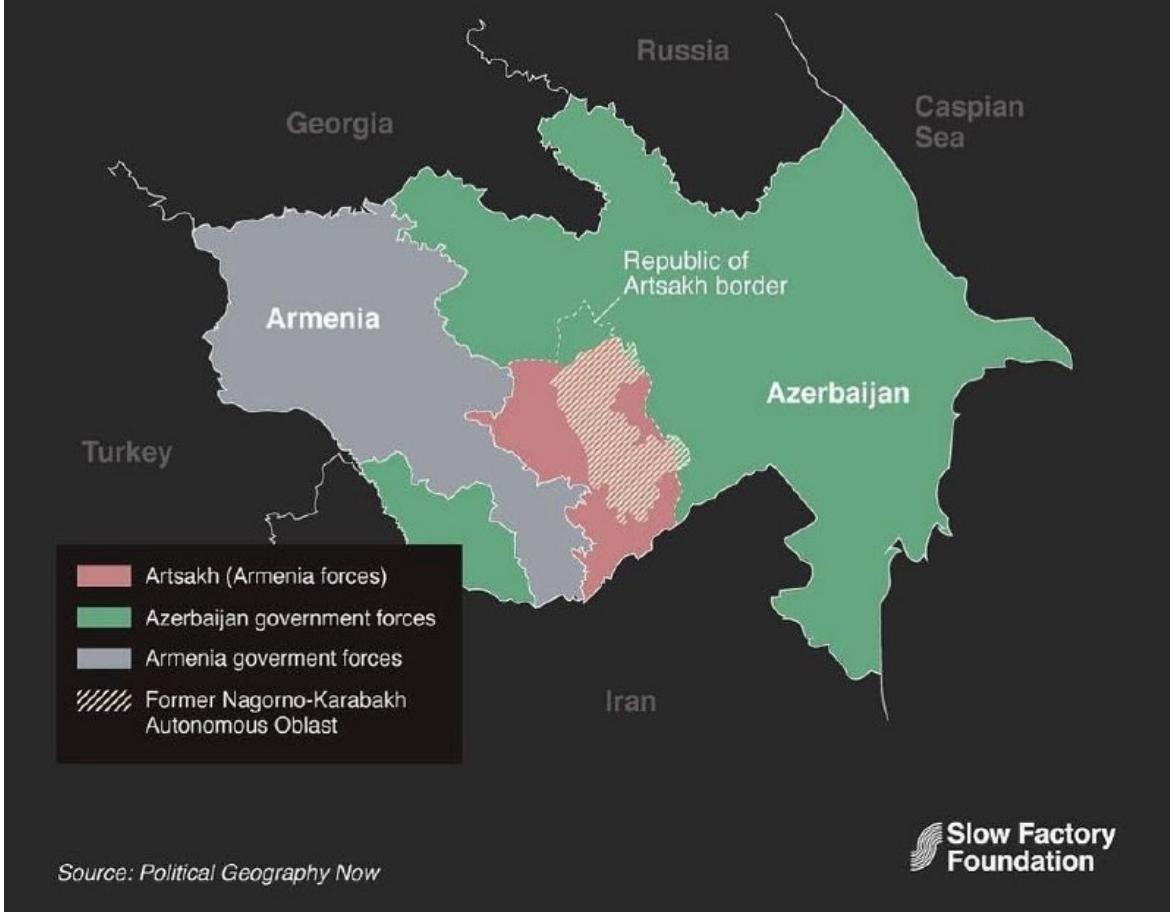

Karabakh is the Turkic name given to the plain between the two rivers by the nomads who migrated there from Central Asia in the eleventh century and literally means black garden.

There is a significant Azeri minority population in the lower Karabakh as a result of decades of settlements from Azerbaijan.

Source: Hewsen, Robert H. (2001). Armenia: A Historical Atlas

Despite opposition from the native populations (majority Armenian), Stalin lumped the majority of Armenian territory within Azerbaijan SSR. This resulted in decades of Azeri settlements inside the autonomous region, which to this day is still internationally recognized as part of Azerbaijan.

The people of Artsakh voted for independence in full compliance with the norms of international law and existing domestic legislation in 1991.

Azerbaijan declared its independence from the Soviet Union.

August 30, 1991

Nagorno-Karabakh Republic (or Artsakh) declared its independence from Azerbaijan.

January 6, 1992

Azerbaijan recognized Nagorno-Karabakh, and an unofficial truce was reached through Russian mediation.

May 12, 1994

September 21, 1991

Armenia declared independence from the Soviet Union.

June 1992

Azerbaijan launched a large-scale attack, marking the peak of Azeri advance in Nagorno-Karabakh.

*Source: Human Rights Watch, Annual World Report 1995, www.hrw.org, Bunak B. Anthropological makeup of the Caucasus // Vestn. State.
Museum of Georgia. T. XIII. 1946.*

Amnesty International identified Israeli M095 DPICM (Dual-Purpose Improved Cluster Munition) bomblets in a residential area in Stepanakert, the largest city of the de facto* Republic of Artsakh.

Cluster munitions are more deadly than standard artillery shells against both vehicles and personnel targets. They are problematic because they leave warzones littered with unexploded munitions that can kill civilians many years after the fighting has ended.

Source: Amnesty International, Forbes

 Slow Factory Foundation

Since the 1994 truce, Azerbaijan has made multiple attacks on Artsakh, breaching the ceasefire agreement and refusing negotiations that recognize Artsakh as its own state.

“The conflict in Nagorno-Karabakh (Artsakh) is not one over a disputed territory but about the issue of self-determination and fundamental human rights, including the inalienable right of Armenians of Artsakh to live freely and peacefully on the land of their ancestors.”

– Aram Araratyan

Press officer, Armenian embassy, London

Source: The Guardian

How you can help

➤ Raise Awareness

Share this post, other information and/or first person accounts to raise awareness on the issue.

➤ Donate

Hayastan All American Fund www.himnadram.org/en

Armenia Fund www.armeniafund.org

Armenia Support Fund www.armeniasupportfund.org

The Paros Foundation www.parosfoundation.org

My Step Foundation www.mystep.foundation/eng

Source: @beyondtheinterview

<https://www.facebook.com/shityoushouldcareabout/posts/769029283939364>

Whoever had the bright idea to ban commercial shops out of residential neighborhoods may be the dumbest person who ever lived.

"I want to live far from grocery stores and restaurants"

- some horrible dumbass link source

trans
men are men.

trans
women
are women.

<https://www.facebook.com/transarmy/photos/a.101087104719810/200566801438>

SYDBEE 🐝🐝
@poetmaybe3

▼

fun fact, it's COMMON for women in retail to have to "hide in the back" or change their schedules to avoid a creepy man. often these women are teens. Those men are NEVER ARRESTED OR REPRIMANDED. we just consider this normal.

10:45 AM · 6/22/20 · Twitter for Android

"Fun fact: it's COMMON for women in retail to have to "hide in the back," or change their schedules to avoid a creepy man. Often these women are teens. Those men are NEVER ARRESTED OR REPRIMANDED. We just consider this normal." source

返回目录

消息精选

返回目录

<https://www.smh.com.au/lifestyle/life-and-relationships/because-i-am-small-and-asian-i-am-fetishised-by-some-white-men-20181126-p50ifk.html>

The Sydney Morning Herald

Because I am small and Asian, I am fetishised by some white men

I continue to be astounded by the number of white men who assume I am "sweet in the kitchen, a tiger in the bedroom".

<https://nymag.com/intelligencer/amp/2020/08/russia-ukraine-trump-biden-intelligence-foreign-interference-election.html>

Intelligencer

U.S. Intelligence: GOP Is Accepting Russian Help for Trump

The collusion is happening in plain sight.

Sometimes I think that contemporary “pro-market” conservatism and libertarianism could be summarized as willful unconcern about externalities—a fierce determination not to pay the costs that business activity systematically imposes on third parties. link source

Twitter

Prof Dynarski

Little Padwan, study up and then come back and give me another solution to externalities <https://t.co/0Nx6BnCC2U>

<https://www.nytimes.com/2020/09/04/books/review/x-y-mathematicians-manifesto-gender-eugenia-cheng.html>

NY Times

Want a Better Way to Think About Gender? Use Math

In “X+Y,” the mathematician Eugenia Cheng proposes using category theory to end the gender wars.

A year ago today, our dr transferred an embryo into my uterus. Our daughter is now sleeping (sort of) in her crib. Tomorrow, the senate will hold confirmation hearings for a lifetime SC appointment for a woman who thinks that both my marriage & parenthood should not be legal. source

返回目录