This is Warsaw, Poland right now after the right-wing government banned abortion. Millions of women across the country have brought everything to a stand still. Right-wing men believe they can tell women what they can and cannot do with their bodies is done in the 21st century. Hopefully these women will topple the current regime. If the right-wing Supreme Court tries to criminalize abortion, we will end the Supreme Court as an institution. source

Some of my friends ask why I post so much political stuff. Here is my answer.

Always take sides. Neutrality helps the oppressor, never the victim. Silence encourages the tormentor never the tormented.

My friend has been calling people in Texas to talk about Biden and it breaks my heart how many women she's spoken to that don't want their husbands to know they're not voting for Trump.

WHAT'S YOUR VOTING PLAN...

Replies to @erinpibba

Yup. This is why we don't mark someone as having been talked to unless we talk to THAT person. It's why we will likely never totally give up in person voting. Sometimes the voting booth is the only safe place for people to vote their conscience.

The year is 2020. Other nations are experimenting with universal basic income, biometrics, and ending the use of fossil fuels. America is debating voting rights.

Christians: yes, good

Me: I was assigned male at birth but I'm actually a woman

Christians: impossible

Last Thursday the Polish Constitutional Tribunal decided to invalidate the access to abortion on the grounds of “severe and irreversible fatal defect or incurable illness that threatens the fetus’ life”, which constituted around 98% of performed abortions (in 2019).

Protestors gathered in Maastricht to express their disagreement with the instrumentalisation of the rights of women - and of everyone concerned - in the political struggle, that is happening now in Poland.

An explanation of some of the symbols used on the protestors’ placards:

A red lightning bolt has become the main symbol of the protests. It is part of the logo of Women’s Strike (Strajk Kobiet), a grassroots women’s rights initiative and the main organiser of the current demonstrations.

The attack on Sunrise Movement's collaboration with a Hong Kong activist forwarding the claim that the entire Hong Kong movement is aligned with Trump and Republicans stems from a racist logic that strips Hong Kong protesters of their political agency.
